Crochet a Jayne Hat!

By Robin Prosje

The “Jayne Hat” was introduced in the Firefly episode “The Message” as a gift mailed to tough guy Jayne Cobb from his mother. Easy to make by knitting or crochet methods, it has become a universal symbol of the Firefly/Serenity fandom known as the Browncoats. Here is Robin’s take on how to build one. I don’t crochet myself, so please forgive any errors in the jargon made in transcribing Robin’s notes. – Randall

You will need:

- Hook size H
- 2 ½ ounces of mustard yellow yarn
- 1 ounce of pumpkin orange yarn
- 1 ½ ounces of red or maroon yarn

Row 1: (Tie slip knots in yellow and orange.) Chain 23 yellow (let string hang to back of work), tie slip knot in orange and chain on 10 more stitches.

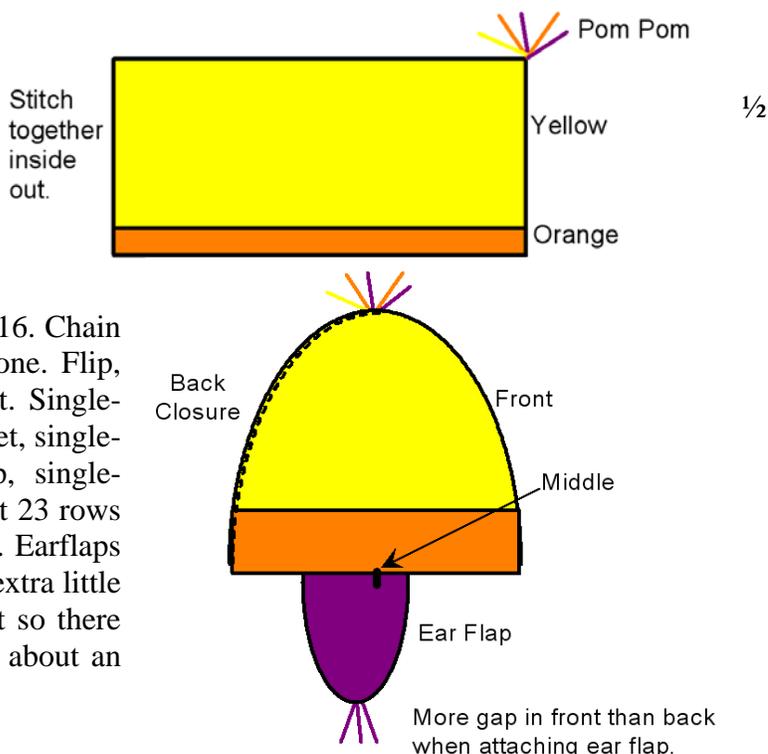

Row 2 – Front: In second chain single-crochet 8 times in orange. On the 9th one, pull orange yarn through, drop to back, yarn over in yellow to finish 9th single-crochet. 23 single-crochet in yellow, chain 1 turn.

Row 3 – Back: The back (inside) is facing you now. Skip chain and first single-crochet, 21 single-crochets in back (ones toward you) loops only. On 22nd yarn through with yellow – bring yellow yarn to back (toward you) and drop. Bring orange up and behind hook to yarn over to finish 22nd single-crochet. 9 orange single-crochet. Chain one turn.

Row 4 – Front: 8 orange single-crochets, yarn through orange and drop to back, yarn over with yellow to finish 9th single-crochet. 23 single-crochet chain over one turn.

Repeat rows 3 and 4, 33 times for a size 7 hat. More rows = bigger hat. Drop one orange stitch about 1/3 to way through so band narrows a little.

Ear Flaps: Chain 17 in maroon. Flip, skip 1st chain 16 single-crochet chain 1. Flip, single-crochet 16. Chain one. Flip, single-crochet 16, chain one. Flip, skip first chain and 2 single-crochet. Single-crochet 13 times, skip 1 single-crochet, single-crochet in end loop, chain 1, flip, single-crochet 14 times, chain 1. Flip, about 23 rows total decrease at varying rows down. Earflaps should be 8 or 9 inches long. Put an extra little scrap of red yarn at the tie off point so there are three strings at end, cut them to about an inch in length.

Each ear flap is different. One is a bit skinnier than the other. Ma Cobb was NOT a very skilled knitter, so don't be too picky! Ear flaps are sewn on with orange yarn under the edge. The flaps will curl – put the curl towards head.

Make a pom-pom for the top out of all three yarns equally, gather to top of hat with yellow yarn and attach.

Antique Apples

by Cathie Yankovich

Just like some people enjoy wearing period clothes, some people like growing and eating heirloom varieties of fruits and vegetables. For those bored with supermarket apples, there are probably a hundred different cultivars to choose from. In Arizona, it appears the best growing areas are at altitudes from 3500 to 4500 feet. Those living in Phoenix are limited to growing the circa 1980 Anna apple.

For a unique combination of eye and taste appeal, consider combining costuming and heirloom gardening. Fans of the late 1700's could carry baskets of properly aged Albermarle Pippins, considered to be the best dessert apple around. Cider made with Campfield apples would be appropriate for pre-Civil War Northern costumes. Those fond of 17th century France could offer tarts made with Calville Blanc apples. Steampunk calls for Golden Delicious or King David. The Lady apple was traditionally used in Christmas decorations of the 1600's.

Two orchards with websites offer antique apple/fruit trees; their listings will have you drooling in no time. Trees of Antiquity (www.treesofantiquity.com) sells apples, pears, peaches, figs and other bare root trees beginning in January. Vintage Virginia Apples (www.vintagevirginiaapples.com) offers other fruit trees, but specializes in apples, grouping them in cider, culinary and dessert categories. Their sister website, www.albermarleciderworks.com, is a place to start if you are interested in the latest beverage fad: craft ciders. At $16 per bottle, these aren't your father's apple cider! For those who can't afford traveling to Virginia for lessons on brewing cider at the Albermarle Ciderworks, Amazon offers a good selection of books on brewing craft ciders.

If you decide to plant an apple tree, the Gila County Extension Agent advises not following the directions to dig a deep pit and fill it with fertile loam and other good things. Apparently this encourages plant roots to stay where the feeding is good and not spread outside the artificially enriched area. He suggests digging a hole to the depth of the root ball and twice as wide to encourage tree roots to spread laterally. Refill with the dirt you dug up and mulch over the top with 4-6 inches of compost. (If you use commercial compost, sprinkle a little 21-0-0 fertilizer over the top to ensure the compost doesn't draw nitrogen out of the soil.)
